

Acknowledgements

There are too many people who could be included here to name them all, however, thanks go to:

All those who attended consultations days for the Candle Project.

Those organisations who piloted and reviewed the drafts of the resource for their feedback.

Those individuals and groups who have allowed the project access to their networks and members. Especially the National CAMHS Trainers Network and National CAMHS BME team.

A special thanks to the following people, many of whom have been involved with this project and the steering group since the outset.
